Paris, Oct. 28.—The French Finance Minister, M. Maurice Petsche, today presented a memorandum which is believed to advocate the eventual merger of France, Italy and the three Benelux countries into one monetary bloc with complete freedom of trade among the members.

Churchill Demand

Fredericton, New Brunswick, Oct. 28.-Lord Beaverbrook predicted an increased Minister, Dr D. U. Stikker, the following the announcement the Italian Minister Without of the new British austerity Portfolio, Signor Roberto Treprogramme, when he was interviewed here today.

Lord Beaverbrook termed the new British austerity programme "startling." He added that the Prime Minister, Mr Clement Attlee, was pledged not to ask for the dissolution of the Government this year, "but most of the country wish he would go as swiftly as possible so a change of administration might be brought to pass."

Lord Beaverbrook added: do not entirely accept Mr Churchill's policies, but I do recognise his genius for bringing Britain out of this difficulty. "There has been a series of differences dividing us since the war, when I was gratified at the opportunity to serve him.

"When he gets into office again, I will not fail to press for the things I believe in. "We differ, of course, only on matters of policy, and I have not the slightest personal difference in the world with him."-Associated Press.

IN these days, when so much is heard

A of the necessity for Commonwealth co-operation to help Britain-and thus the whole of the sterling aren-to overcome her economic difficulties, it is surprising that more attention has not been paid to Australia's great Snowy River scheme. This scheme, inaugurated earlier this month by the Governor-General of Australia, Mr W. J. McKell, will provide electric power for industry over a wide nrea of south-eastern Australia. Undoubtedly the country's most ambitious engineering project, it provides the people of Australia with a programme entailing thirty years of constructive work, with almost unbounded possibilities.

The scheme envisages the damming and diversion of the headwaters of the Snowy River, and in addition to providing-industrial power, it will provide water for irrigation in Australia's two most developed states-Victoria and New South Wales.

In New South Wales the water will carlch the dry valley of the Murrumbidgee, in Victoria the Murray. Construction work entails the building of a number of big dams and sixteen power stations.

Engineers engaged on the scheme estimate that approximately 240,000 kilowatts of electricity should be available within ten years, another 160,000 killowatts in the next two years, and 1,720,000 kilowatts:

when the work is completed. It is a sad commentary on the state of the world that in planning this ambitious and worthy project, the engineers

In charge have to pay so much attention to defence problems. The power stations are being sited underground in protected places in the Snowy Mountains, but the dams cannot be safeguarded in the same way. The RAF demonstrated the will aid Australia's defence, however, in other ways: the industries resulting from it will pay their contribution if needed, and the new resources will enable the decentralisation of Australla's factories. In addition, some of the power is to be used in the work

University. It is to be hoped, however, that most of the power generated will be used for what it was designed; peaceful production. Eventually, the Snowy River scheme will provide more power than is now being used for all purposes by Victoria and New South Wales. This, it is hoped, will attract more heavy industries—and consequently people—to Australia, and expand the country's existing industries. Hardly less important will be the improvement of irrigation in the two states concerned. It is estimated that this will enable the settlement in the two valleys of thousands more food producers, who will earn their living by dairy-farming, fruit-growing and the raising of sheep. Immigration is recognised as one of Australia's biggest problems; the country is vast, and to develop it there must be a huge influx of workers preferably, from the Australian point of view, from Britain. Such ambitious schemes as that now beginning in the Snowy Mountains will provide the resources necessary to maintain a greatly

Change In Programme Layout

On Radio Hongkong The Novel by Anthony Trol- | 1,30 A SPANISH PROGRAMME.

With the introduction of Standard Time with effect from tomorrow, there will be a change in the layout of the Radio Hongkong programmes. The lunchtime programme will remain the same, 10.16 A SHORT RECITAL. but during the evening World News and News Analysis will come at 7 p.m., From the Editorials at 8 p.m., and Radio Newsreel at 10 p.m. nightly.

Another change which had been frequently requested is the transfer of the opera-programme from Saturday to Thursday. At 8.45 p.m. on Thursday, following "Take It from Here," excerpts will be broadcast from Gounod's opera, "Romeo and Juliet," with Margaret Ritchie (soprano) and Frans Vroons (tenor) as the soloists. The BBC Theatre Orchestra and Theatre Chorus are conducted by Walter Goehr.

The Sunday Symphony Concert now starts at 8.10 p.m., and is followed at 9.30 p.m. by a serial, which at present is Anthony Trollope's "The Small House at Allington.'

On Tuesday, November 1, will be the second anniversary of Aileen Woods, popular Stage and Screen Favourites programme. This has over the past two years introduced to the Colony many popular favourites from Broadway successes such as "Oklahoma," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Brigadoon," "High Button Shoes," "Kiss Me, Kate" and "South Pacific."

and_exactly. It seems that it is easier for file brunctte to find a satisfactory tint than it is for the blonde. All blondes with golden crowns have not been blessed with peaches-and-cream skins. Colours vary to a surprising degree. There are light blondes, dark ones and the betwixt-andbetweens of which there are several definite types.

Correct Selection

The delicate leveliness of the written to me true blonde can be enhanced by the correct selection. Her skin has a luminous, semi-transparent quality and for that reason a tiny bit of violet powder is often added to the formula. For evening use the quantity of violet is increased and the white base diminished when blending goes only

They must select rouge of the most delicate tone, the lipstick should be somewhat darker, as near to the natural colouring as. possible. The dark blonde (by that is meant the one with golden skin and hair not as light as the true blonde) can use rouge a bit more lavishly, and the tint of powder will be darker so the skin will look

As in the choice of make-up, so must the blonde be fastidious about the colours of the clothes she wears. Black, of course, is her best bet, forming a definite contrast to her delicate com-plexion, bringing out the sunlighted glints of her hair. Navy is flattering and, as you, know, navy has been raging like a house aftre this season. Good old practical navy; every woman loves it.

FEMININE FEET

TEMININE feet is a subject that should interest the majority of women, since few are free of toe twinges, or minor defects. They lose body balance, get old looking figures and some of them have grouches and ill

Foot specialists divide feet into five main types, though there are variations of these, of course. There is the foot with the high instep; if that is what you have do not wear high cut pumps that may cause pain. The low cut model keeps free of the delicate nerves of the high instep. PRACTICAL HOMECRAFT

OM AN BASICIPIL

FOR THOSE who like modern ideas in architecture there is this style, evidence of the wide variety of houses that can use the same basic plan (shown below).

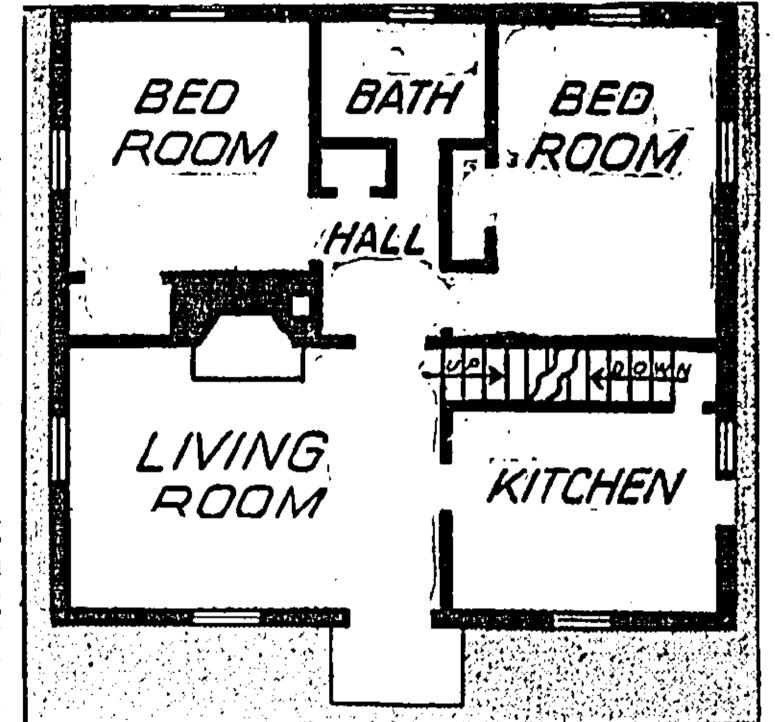

AND THIS ATTRACTIVE little house derives from the Georgian style of architecture, its full length windows adding a note of quiet dignity.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

ANY one of the houses A pictured on this page, whether traditional or modern in design, can be built with the basic floor plan shown in the centre. In fact, these exterior house designs represent only a few of the many that can be developed from this same small four - room - and-bath

This collection of houses, with the plan, are used by Catharine and Harold Sleeper, authors of a fascinating new book called "The House for You-To Build, Buy or Rent," to point up the fact that if you're thinking of building, the important thing is to decide on your floor plan first, select the architectural type of your house afterward. For, it says, "whatever plan you finally decide upon may be designed with a variety of exteriors." Therefore, "don't try to design the outside of your house before you know just what the plan will be." This is the sort of very pracbuy a house, or lease for the successful house from start to rest of your life." It tells you, finish.

MADCAPS & CANUCKS MEET TOMORROW

Wahoos Clash With Wildcats In Ladies' Loop Feature

BY "STARDUST"

All roads and avenues lead to King's Park precincts tomorrow when the everincreasing crowd of week-end ball fans trek out for their quota of diamond thrills and action. John Q. Fan will be given one of the best programmes of the season tomorrow as five big games are slated for decision.

Many teams with unblemished records may see the end to their winning streaks. Two Senior Loop contenders; the Madcaps and the Canadians, clash in the biggest match of a 14-game programme. Uncle Sam's Navy may have their string of successes snapped when they tangle with the powerful Braves. The undefeated Pake take on the temperamental St. Teresa's squad in another humdinger. And there is the battle royal between the doughty foes of the Ladles' Loop. The Wahoos clash with "Doc" Molthen's Wildcats in the first of their 3-game series. This afternoon, the youthful Braves tangle with the Overseas in a Junior Loop headliner.

CHOPIN LIVES ON STAMP CZECH

MUSIC entered the life of Fryderyk Chopin the day he Was born. Into his little village room came the melody of violins warm in a wedding screnade.

At the age of eight Chopin played the plane at a concert. "What did the audience like best?" asked his mother. "My beautiful collar," said Chopin. CESHOSLOVENSKO

At 15 he was a composer, At 19 he left his Polish village and won the hearts of Vienna. Restleasly he flitted across Europe and poured out his music.

In London he played for Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort. Said Chopin: "Her Majesty was very kind and spoke to me twice: Prince Albert drew near the pianoa great favour, so they tell me."

He found fame everywhere, but not happiness. At 39 his last wish brought his friend, Counter Delphine Potocka to king at his side.

And now, 100 years later, this stamp in his memory is issued by Czechoslovakia. For a Czech, Adalbert Zwyny gave Chopin his first real music lessons. Face value: Three crowns (about 3 1/4 d.); Perforation;

CALL to young Russians to "Avoid the capitalist habit of smoking" shows how very real is the danger that the workers may be contaminated by the example of the effete reactionaries. The new democracles are naturally alarmed at certain signs that in such feudal countries as ours, the noblemen's custom of smoking may descend to the middle-class and even to the proletariat. The famous line in the marching song, "While you've a lucifer to light your fag," led one Soviet critic to write: "This seems to indicate that the rank and file are already copying the aristocratic example of the rich cavalry of-MIOW that the only way for a is country to make money is by enticing more and more foreign travellers, protests are once more heard against the dangers to England of the Conthrental Sunday—that wild festival of abandon which can be studled in any French provincial town. What is ridiculous and dangerous is that England should try to produce a clumsy imitation of a foreign country. Any traveller worth welcoming comes to England to see something different from his own country. Yet it is assumed that Americans will not return for a second visit unless they find here the things they are used to in America. The way to attract visitors is to make present-day England more like England. By the way, the principal event of the "Continental Sunday" is going to church.

DORN today, you have a tremendous capacity D for handling detail. Your patience and perseverance are outstanding and every job you tackle-be it large or small-commands your full attention at all times. Your reasoning powers are excellent and you rarely make an error in judgment provided, of course, you curb your impulsiveness which breaks out rather unexpectedly at times.

You are the type to be entrusted with large undertakings, for you seldom take an important step without thinking it out from all angles, first. You can be temporarily influenced against your best judgment by those you love. But if this results in error—you know how to remedy the mistake. This does not often happen, for you are quick to learn from experiencel Bosically a real humanitarian, you spend your energies doing things rather than talking about what you would like to do. You are very fond of children and understand them. You probably would make a fine teacher.

There is one thing against which you must be warned. Because you are so proficient in tletall work, you must guard against being pushed into it and left there to rot! Don't let yourself be lost in a mass of desk routine. You have other talents and if you display them, you soon will prove your worth and get that desired promotion.

You women are charming, animated and lively. You have a fascination for members of the opposite sex and will have many offers of marriage. Don't be too much of a flirt-and on the other hand, don't be too "picky" or you will have a difficult time making up your mind which one to wed!

Once convinced, you to your plans, you will overcome them. Actually, the more fight others give you—the harder you will battle to win out. You must learn to keep your ideals high, for once you get set on something, nothing will change your mind. Don't be so pigheaded that you won't admit an error if it does occur. At least be honest with yourself. Only in this way can you be assured of reaching high goals.

You have a great love of all beauty and will be happiest if you can express it in some creative fashion-art, music poetry or prose. If apparently thwarted in this, you will be a sponsor of those who do have the gift of expression. You would make an excellent manager, pro-
